

LAND ACKNOWLEDGEMENT

We at Blandford Nature Center acknowledge that the land we are situated on today is the ancestral land of the Anishinaabe: the Odawa, Ojibwe, and Bodéwadmi people, also known as the People of the Three Fires. It is important to honor the history and original people of this place. This land recognition is a small, yet essential, step to advance equity and create authentic connections to this place often referred to as Blandford Nature Center.
